

My Trip to the Southeast

This is a map of the Southeast Region.

EVERGLADES

Everglades

Today I went to the Everglades. I could not wait to see the tree snails! When we got there I asked the boat driver if we will see tree snails but he broke my heart and said they were extinct. It was so swampy and gross and the water felt cool but a bit gooey. Also we saw some extraordinary animals such as Lemon sharks, crocodiles and many more. Overall it was a bit scary because of the Python snakes. And I almost fell out of the boat.

Kennedy Space Center

- Yesterday I went to the Kennedy space center and I went to see the REAL rocket launch. It was like 999999 billion feet high I could not even see it and I thought the fire was going to hit me. Then we went to the lunch with a astronaut it was so brilliant and I asked some questions. Then we went the online space ship landing there it was so exciting!

Jamestown, Virginia

Hi today I went to Jamestown,   Virginia the first settlement of  America there was some really bad stuff like no water, drought, no food, and enemies in 1607 but then in 1614 some good things happened like the drought ended no more enemies and more food. Lastly it was estrodanary in many ways. In the end it was a perfect history spot for the perfect vacation.

A coal in Appalachian today I explored a coal mine In Appalachia that is located in the southern part of the Appalachian mountain range.

One way Appalachian is important it is rich in minerals so you can mine them for money.
Lastly you use coal for electricity.
These are all ways that the coal is helpful. It was a fun trip and was cool to wear a helmet.

Tennessee

Today I experienced the wonders of Tennessee. I explored 86 meters below earth. As I strolled down the Craighead caverns and saw the lost sea, I thought it was a movie but no it was so cool. Moving on I also went on a wildlife hike and saw the state animal the raccoon. Also, I thought I saw a ghost, but it was an albino deer! Then I saw a wild hog playing with a grebe it was awesome. CRASH BANG LOUD wow that was loud oh yeah, I am at the rock n soul museum there is 1000s of people here and its so loud. There I just left now I am at the tragic spot where Martin Luther King JR died it was so sad but had a lot of fun facts. It was all so awesome I don't know what the best part was.

New New orlines French Qurter

Today I went to French Quarter in New Orlines here is my story of my trip. First I went to desert and got a king cake and found the baby right away! Then we left becouse I had a belly ache so we went back to the hotel and we made masks! The next day we got a free tour of the storge room with the floots it was very bright. Next we went on the street and a parade was there and beads were flying it was so loud and messy candy everywhere. So I just got back it was CRAZY so that was my trip to the French Qarter.

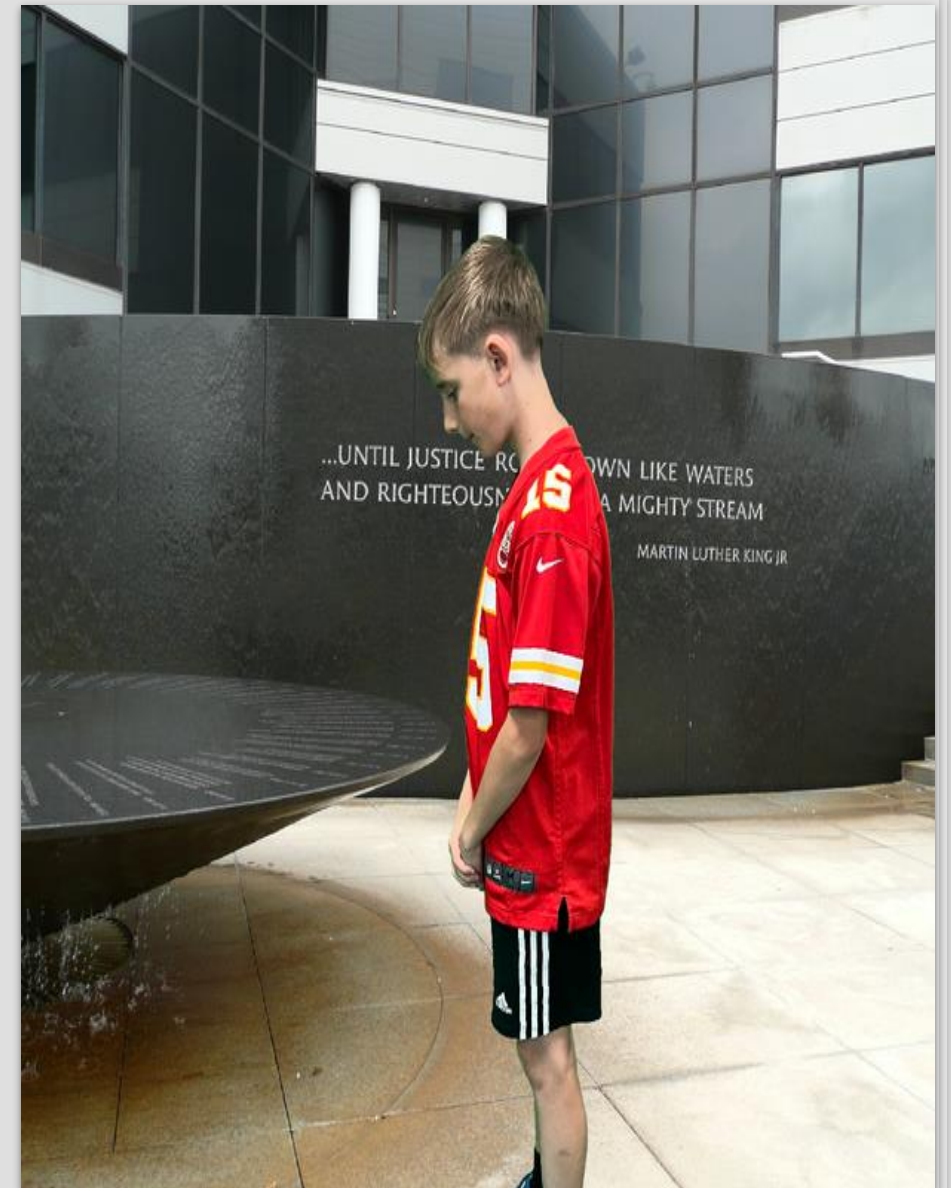

Natchez, Mississippi

Today I visited a cotton plantation in Natchez, Mississippi. It was really sad because this is where the rich white people would keep the slaves in the 1800s. So, the slaves would have to pick cotton for hours in the plantation which is a big farm. Then the plantation owner would live in a big nice house and the slaves would live in a tiny shed home. Also, the cotton weighed nothing and they would have to pick a serten amount of weight each day. Then have to ship it on a boat and pack it up into a crate.

But at least slavery has stopped that was a sad trip.

Civil rights memorial Montgomery, Alabama

Today we were in Montgomery, Alabama. We visited the Civil Rights Memorial. Black people were treated unfairly and they were segregated in schools, jobs and other parts of daily life. Then Martin Luther King Jr hosted a protest to stop racism. Then a couple of years later he sadly got shot and died. Lastly a group of black people sat at a white only food shop and the white people were throwing things at the black people and hurting them. That was my trip to the Civil Rights Memorial in Alabama.
